

Directions for carrying on Shabbat to Inova Fairfax Hospital and the Northern Virginia Mental Health Institute campuses

The hospital extension of the Fairfax eruv includes the entirety of both campuses, and is shown on the map, shaded purple. Note: the extension does not include Inova's Center for Personalized Health on the east side of Gallows Road.

If the eruv status banner or weekly email/text alerts states: the eruv is “partially up”, or the “main eruv is up but the hospital eruv extension is down”, do not carry north across Woodburn Road, into the hospital and NVMHI campuses.

Caution! The route from the main part of the eruv to the hospital passes near to the eruv boundary. While Woodburn Road is the common route for drivers, parts of it are neither safe for pedestrians nor covered by the eruv. Walking, let alone carrying on Shabbat, should proceed through the Camelot/Winterset neighborhoods. Please print a copy of these instructions so that you will have access to them in advance of Shabbat.

The only viable route across Accotink Creek is to use King Arthur Blvd, which proceeds north from its beginning at Little River Turnpike. From King Arthur there are two options:

- 1) King Arthur Blvd turns into Holly Rd at the northern end of the neighborhood and continues northward. When the office complex appears on the left, turn to walk in its parking lot counter clockwise around the building. (Do not proceed on the sidewalk all the way to the intersection with Luttrell Rd, which lies just outside the eruv.) Follow the parking lot around and proceed down the hill through the connected lots so that you are parallel to Woodburn Rd. Proceed to the sidewalk at the last parking lot exit onto Woodburn Rd and turn left to go to the crosswalk at the traffic light. Cross Woodburn and walk along Wellness Blvd to get towards your destination. The Inova buildings are all interconnected - do not use the sidewalk along Gallows Rd.
- 2) From King Arthur Blvd turn left on Saxony Dr. At its termination turn right on Guinevere Dr. It will end in the Camelot Elementary School parking lot. Turn left into the lot and a pedestrian trail will start up on the north side leading to Bannerwood Dr. At the end of Bannerwood Dr the sidewalk will continue north, and will connect with Woodburn Rd. Cross Woodburn at the traffic light and the cross walk and proceed along Wellness Boulevard to get towards your destination. The Inova buildings are all interconnected - do not use the sidewalk along Gallows Rd.
